COURSE OVERVIEW

Office Practice of Primary Care Medicine is the renowned Harvard Medical School CME course for general internal medicine. It offers new and returning attendees the opportunity to stay current with annual advances across every major area of general medicine. Designed by and for clinicians, the curriculum focuses on state-of-the-art approaches to the clinical challenges we routinely face and the best ways to apply these approaches to your practice. Lectures, Q&A forums, and hands-on workshops at this course offer you the opportunity to exchange ideas and pose your questions to many of Harvard Medical School's finest teachers and master clinicians.

Learning Objectives

- Integrate state-of-the-art approaches to general internal medicine problems into your care of patients
- Apply up-to-date screening recommendations for breast, cervical, colon and prostate cancer
- Determine appropriate opioid use for non-malignant disease
- Provide appropriate end-of-life care

Target Audience

- Primary care physicians: internists and family practitioners
- Medical subspecialists
- Non-medical specialists who want to update their knowledge of general internal medicine
- Nurse practitioners, registered nurses, and physician assistants

New data, innovations, and state-of-the-art practices for:

- Physical exams
- Counseling
- Screening
- Office procedures
- Diagnoses
- Treatment strategies
- Practice management
- Motivational interviewing
